

Abstract

A surgical flat implant for preventing tissue-to-tissue adhesion in operated areas, in particular for post-operative repair in pericardial, peritoneal and 5 gynaecological surgery, comprises at least one layer (1) of a thin, biore-sorbable, smooth film and a stabilizing layer in form of a reinforcing mesh (2) of plastic material which is provided with a metal-containing, biocompatible, continuous coating (4).